

Weill Cornell Medicine-Qatar
Institute for Population Health

Population Health and Well-being Series

Global Surgery: Surgery inequity in Low and Middle Income Countries (LMICs) of the Middle East

Live Webinar

Mar 19, 2024

1:00 to 2:00 PM (Qatar Time)

Speaker

Dr. Ali Hallal
MD, FRCS(Ed), FACS

*Associate Professor of Clinical Surgery
Director, Surgery Clerkship
Weill Cornell Medicine-Qatar*

Dr Ali Hallal is an Associate Professor of Clinical Surgery and is currently the director of the surgery clerkship at Weill Cornell Medicine-Qatar (WCM-Q). Dr Hallal's clinical expertise is in Trauma surgery, Surgical Intensive Care and Upper Gastrointestinal oncology surgery.

He has an extensive track record in surgical education and acted as the program director of the surgery residency and the trauma and intensive care fellowship at the American University of Beirut Medical Center. Dr Hallal's recent interest is conflict medicine and global surgery and its integration into medical education.

He was involved at the national and regional level in the establishment of trauma and critical services, the development of the ECMO program, directing ATLS courses teaching general surgery and acute care review courses in the MENA region and Europe and the organization of several congresses and webinar related to conflict medicine.