

Weill Cornell Medicine-Qatar
Institute for Population Health

Health and YOU Community Wellness Series

Skin Health in the Heat: Practical Advice for the Community

This lecture will highlight sun protection, hydration, and rash prevention strategies to help you care for your skin in hot weather.

Live Webinar
November 4, 2025
4:00 PM
(Qatar Time)

Speaker

Dr. Alreem Al-Nabti

*Assistant Professor of Dermatology
Weill Cornell Medicine-Qatar*

Dr. Alreem Al-Nabti is a dermatologist in New York City and Assistant Professor at Weill Cornell Medicine. She specializes in pediatric and general dermatology, with a passion for making skin health education accessible to all communities. After completing residency at McGill University and a fellowship in pediatric dermatology at UC San Diego's Rady Children's Hospital, she has dedicated her career to patient care, teaching, and public education on skin health.