

Dr. Liam Fernyhough

Dr. Fernyhough obtained his medical degree from Nottingham University in the U.K.

He subsequently worked in the U.K. and New Zealand while undertaking further training to obtain Fellowship in Internal Medicine and Haematology with the Royal Australasian College of Physicians as well as Fellowship as a Hematological Pathologist with the Royal College of Pathologists of Australasia.

He works as a Senior Consultant Hematologist in the NCCCR at HMC and is Assistant Professor of medicine at WCMQ.

